Commentary

The Managed Portfolio Fund seeks to generate attractive long-term investment returns at a lower risk than that associated with pure equity market investment through active management of a well diversified multi-asset portfolio.

It has been a weak start to the year for global markets generally, with the Russian invasion of Ukraine and rising inflation being the major concerns and the Fund has held up relatively well to end the quarter down by 2.31%.

The majority of our holdings have been negatively impacted by the general market volatility this quarter and positive contributions were limited to a few individual companies that have been reporting strong trading news such as Bloomsbury Publishing and AstraZeneca, or resources companies including BHP and Shell that are benefitting from rising commodity prices. We also received a boost from a take-over at a 40% premium for our holding in our small cap aircraft broker Air Partner.

Our property holdings had a mixed quarter with falls from most holdings balanced by a 15% jump in the price for Circle Property where positive action is being taken by the board to reduce the discount to the underlying net asset value and positive progress by Secure Income and Supermarket Income REITs.

It continues to be a tough environment for bonds generally, with rising interest rates and inflation hurting investment grade bond prices and general risk aversion weighing on higher yielding bonds, although overall we remain comfortable with our portfolio of fixed interest securities which yields over 6.5%.

Whilst the near term outlook remains uncertain, we believe that our portfolio of investments is well positioned to generate attractive returns for long-term investors, whilst our relatively defensive positioning should provide some protection against the risks of any short term continued market weakness.

Investors should not be misled by past performance and that the value of investments can fall as well as rise. The information set out above does not constitute an offer to subscribe for shares, which may only be purchased under the terms of the Explanatory Memorandum.
